COURSE OVERVIEW

This lecture and hands-on course focuses on Vital Pulp Therapy (VPT) as a predictable, evidence-based approach to preserving pulp vitality in young and mature permanent teeth.

General dentists are often the first clinicians to encounter deep caries and pulp exposures. In many cases, these teeth can be preserved with vital pulp therapy; however, due to uncertainty in diagnosis, case selection, and technique, patients are frequently referred multiple times or undergo unnecessary root canal treatment—often at a very young age.

This course is designed to bridge that gap by empowering clinicians with the knowledge and confidence to make the right decision at the right time.

Participants will gain a clear understanding of:

- Why preserving the pulp matters biologically and clinically
- When vital pulp therapy is indicated—and when it is not
- How modern materials and techniques improve outcomes
